Creating a community for 2001.

What is it that binds High Point University as a community?

"Our search for direction as we leave home, enter a new environment, and seek to find ourselves."

Tim Hassett, Big Man on Campus 2000

"Our sense of pride for our school. We are such a small school that we know each other more personally and recognize the familiar faces."

Mandy Hedgecock

"The Campus activities give people a chance to interact with others whom they don't normally see because of their major."

Misty Dills

You, the Class of 2001, are a very special class. You came to High Point eager, enthusiastic and willing to gain knowledge, which in turn you absorbed and used to nourish your minds. We, the faculty and staff, are so proud of you and all students High Point University.

During your years as a student here, you have seen many changes - academic and curriculum changes (We have been consistently ranked among the top tier of regional liberal arts colleges.), athletic changes (a full-fledged Division I program), changes in our lovely chapel building, a completely updated and expanded science building, a new residence hall and the groundbreaking for a beautiful new fine arts building. You have been a part of all of this, and on behalf of the University family, I thank you for your generous and cooperative spirit.

You will soon face new challenges. It will not be easy to leave the University, but you will be prepared, and if we wanted life to be easy we should have been born in a different universe. We are optimistic about your future because we know you and believe in you. Please remember that with the help of the Almighty, all things are possible. We will continue to watch your future with the greatest of interest.

*I thank you for your

HIGH POINT UNIVERSITY: A PROFILE

High Point University, founded in 1924, currently enrolls nearly 3,000 students in day, evening, and graduate programs. For six consecutive years, US NEWS & WORLD REPORT has ranked High Point University among the top tier of regional liberal arts colleges; and in 2000, High Point was ranked Number One among regional liberal arts colleges in North Carolina. In addition, on three occasions, US NEWS AND WORLD REPORT has ranked High Point among the 20 most efficient senior colleges and universities in the nation because it has achieved quality while keeping costs low. In 1999, High Point University was one of 100 senior colleges and universities in the United States selected for listing on The Templeton Honor Roll of Colleges that encourage Character-Development; in 1997, the University received the National Student Retention Award; and in 1996, the Peterson's publication Smart Parents Guide to College lauded the University's efforts to inculcate values and to encourage graduation.

Currently, two thirds of the entering freshmen come from states other than North Carolina; one-third, from more than 500 miles away, including nearly 150 students who come from countries other than the United States. Such diversity makes the campus a microcosm of the world--an ideal place for learning to live and work in the global society of the 21st century.

The University is clearly a university on the move. Since 1985, enrollment has more than doubled; the University has generated more than $41 million in gifts and grants; the endowment has grown from $8.7 million to $44.3 million; the number of faculty has more than doubled; the percentage of faculty with terminal degrees has grown from 56% to 78%; and enrollment in the honors program has grown from 32 students to 156 students. Also, the University has committed $58 million to construction and renovation, including $28 million for projected construction--$15 million for the proposed Charles E. and Pauline Lewis Hayworth Fine Arts Center; $3 million for the proposed Norton Center for International Home Furnishings, and $10 million for renovations to the University's outdoor athletic facilities. Also, during this period, the University has moved from NAIA, to NCAA-II, to NCAA-I. The University sponsors numerous honor societies and over 40 clubs and organizations, including four national fraternities and four national sororities. More significantly, University students record more than 25,000 hours of community service annually.

STUDENT LIFE

A Week of Fun Among the Colors of Autumn

FALL INVASION

SAB brought to campus the speed and crashes of racing through virtual NASCAR. This thrilling, hold-on-to-your seat activity was the first of many during Fall Invasion. Fun Flicks combined students' best dance moves with their favorite songs to create an MTV-style music video. Sponsored by SAB, this was free to anyone outgoing enough to show off their skills.

The miracles of modern technology put students in the spotlight.

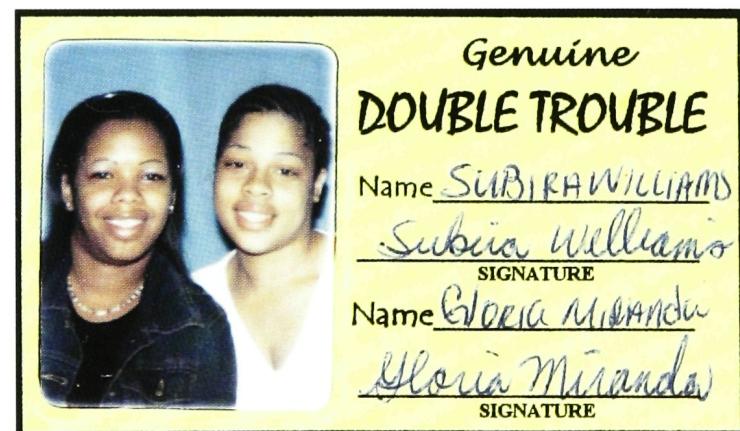

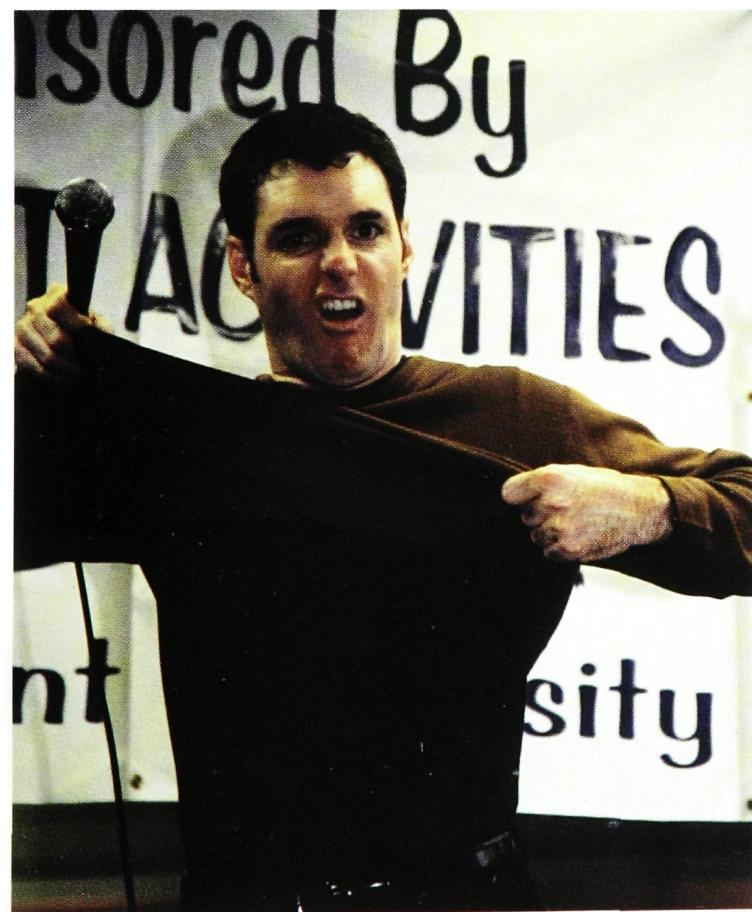

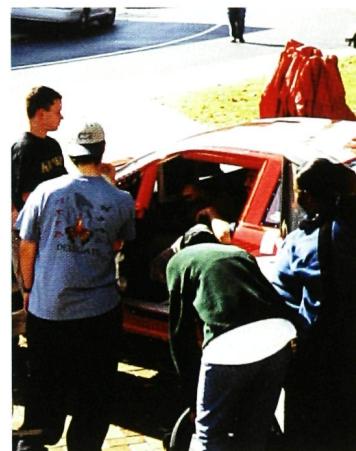

Kendria, Ebony, and Brandy rock the house with their video.

Not all the videos were MTV style. Some students made mini-movies, complete with costumes.

EVERYDAY PEOPLE

Eating, studying, hanging out with friends, or just chillin' are all a part of everyday college life. On this spread, the Zenith staff present a snapshot of "everyday people" at High Point University. When you look back at your college days "everyday life" is the thing you'll miss the most.

Known for his outrageous hats, Big Daddy wear, and Hawaiian shirts, Tim Hubbard is the unofficial Big Man on Campus.

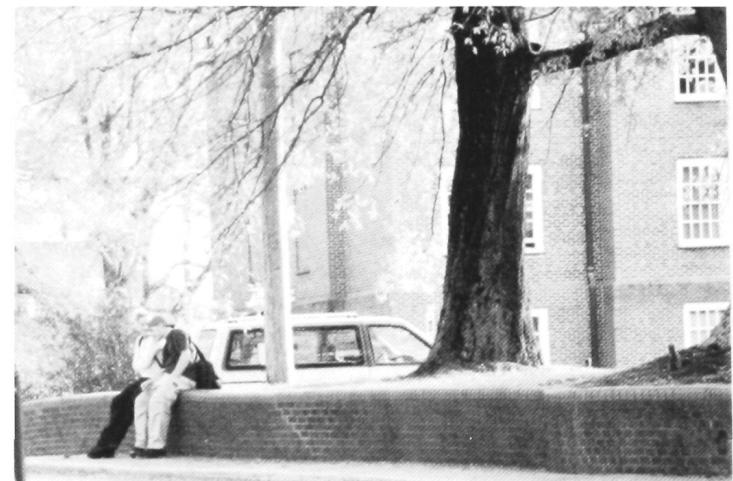

As the sun goes down Gloria "Chi Chi" Williams hits the books for another all-nighter.

Friend mug for Zenith after another satisfying meal in the cafe.

Steven Coard gets a cup of the "The Real Thing" to go at the cafeteria.

Computer-$1,500
Microfridge-$75
Ralph Lauren T-Shirt-$20
Ramen noodles after the dining hall closes-PRICELESS!

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like "the wall". Students contemplate the meaning of life while getting a little sun.

FAMILY WEEKEND

The events of Fallapalooza entertained students and family alike as parents arrived on campus for the annual Family Weekend. Faculty members were on hand to meet and mingle, and everyone participated in a wide array of activities. The Tower Players produced "Nunsense" for the enjoyment of all while the Dance-A-Thon loosened things up a bit.

FALLAPALOOZA brought many new acts to HPU. This style of dancing is called clogging. April White is a proud member of the squad.

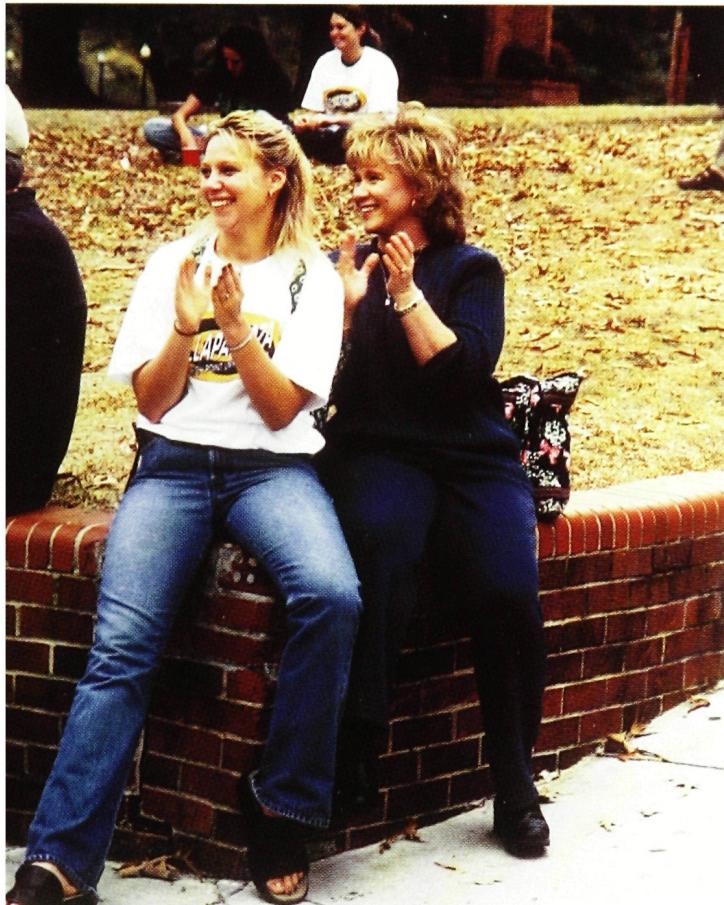

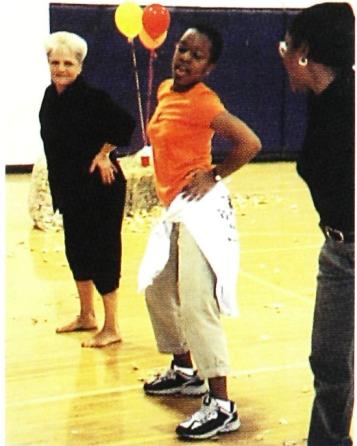

The sisters of Hoboken try to raise money to bury the last four nuns who died from botulism. Several nuns try to sell their baking tips in this skit.

"Nunsense" satires life in a convent with hysterical, anything goes fun. The Tower Players put on the witty and outrageous musical for Parents' Weekend.

Amora Williams and her mother groove to the music at the FALLAPALOOZA Dance-A-Thon. Amora took home first prize.

Allison Augustine sits with her mother and watches the cloggers perform.

Tiffany Cherry and her family are on their way to breakfast in the cafeteria where they will be introduced to Tiffany's professors.

SHOPPING FOR FUN

The Benton Convention Center in Winston-Salem served as host to the National Association for Campus Activities (NACA) Southeast Regional Conference. Nine students chosen to represent High Point University had an opportunity to attend educational sessions and a live showcase of performers, allowing students an opportunity to negotiate deals for next semester's Student Activities Board events.

Tiffany Hairston plays the air (filled) guitar while shopping for fun.

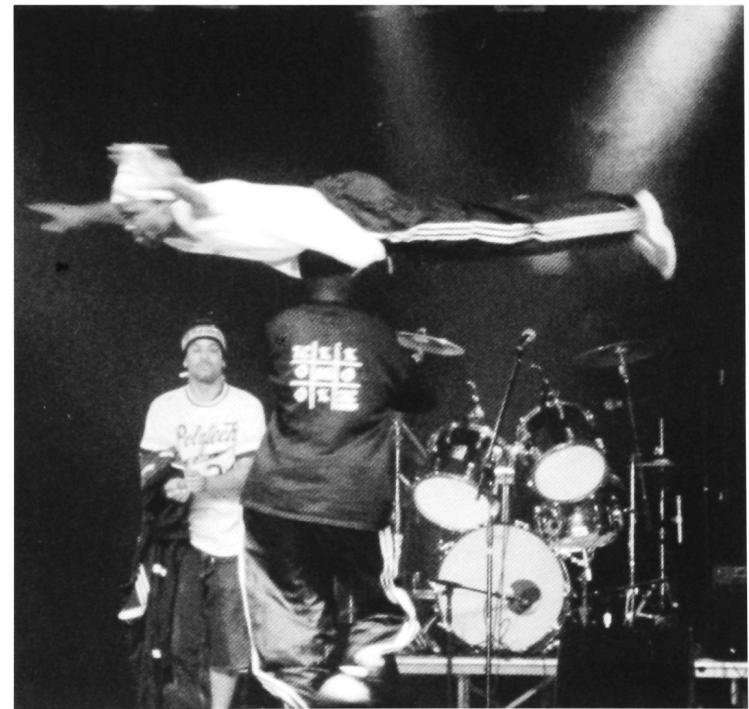

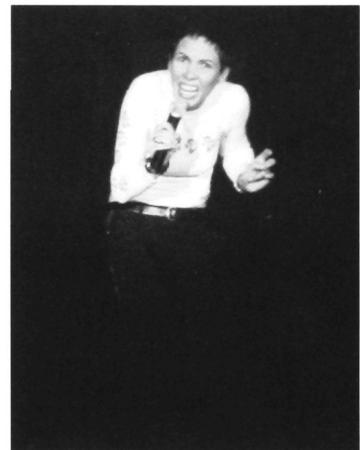

Leslie Malbon, Kristy Lomax, and Amy Rogers enjoy dinner at the Conference.

Quonsetta Salters considers possibility of a snakecharming event on campus.

Comedian Elvira Kurt says, "Please bring me to HPU; I promise I'll be funny!"

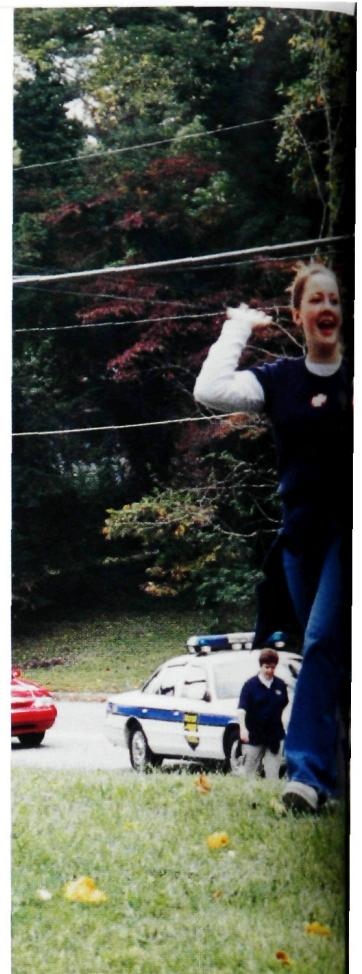

Laura Casey poses with Stacey Ann Chin, Winner of the 1999 People of Color Poetry Slam.

Break! does a power tumble to impress delegates at the Conference.

Each year the University hosts the Crop Walk for the city of High Point.

STOP THE HUNGER

The Crop Walk is a national fundraiser to help eliminate hunger in the United States. The money raised from the 5K walk helps local agencies combat hunger in the High Point area. Many student organizations helped with the event: Genesis, Delta Sigma Phi, the Volunteer Center, Alpha Phi Omega, and Kappa Chi.

Bud Hill, Director of the Open Door Shelter in High Point welcomes and thanks walkers.

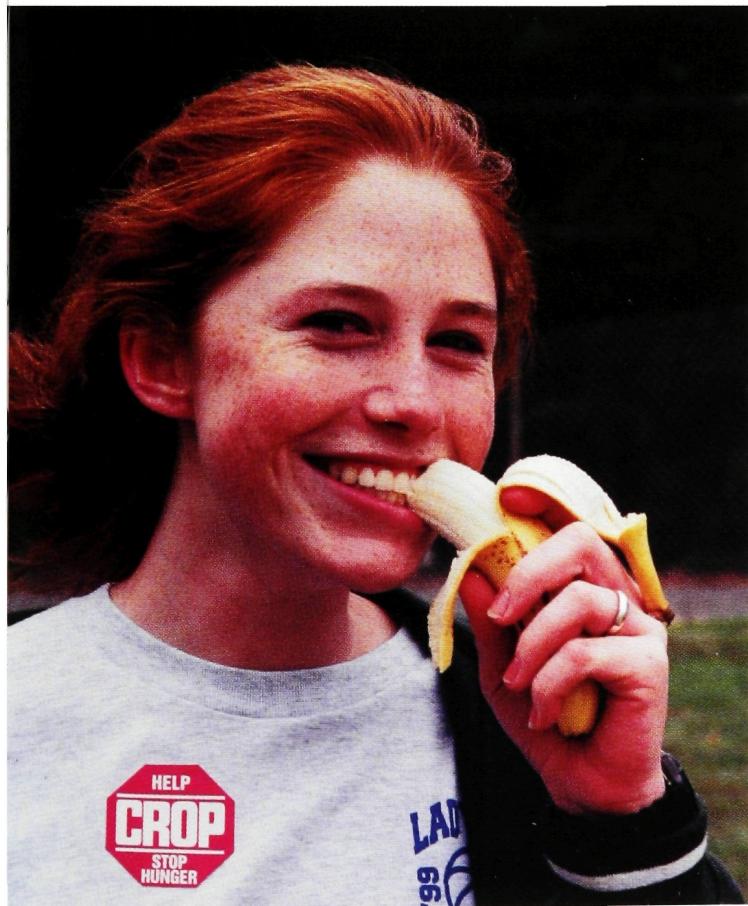

Delta Sigs get up early to help check people in.

Participants came from the community and University.

The Crop Walk is fun for man and dog alike.

A carbohydrate boost is given at the finish line.

Genesis Gospel Choir performs with a solo by Lakisha Morgan.

The campus opens its gates to welcome back those who once roamed the grounds.

HOMECOMING

Friendly competition threaded Greek Week as fraternities and sororities paired off to see who was tops on campus. The Theta Chi/Zeta Tau Alpha team met the challenge by setting a new record for points accumulated during Greek Week. All students enjoyed other festivities such as the ground-breaking ceremony and Homecoming parade. Alumni were made to feel back at home.

Kathy Miller, Debi Royals, and Michael Turmala, Class of '75, enjoy the parade.

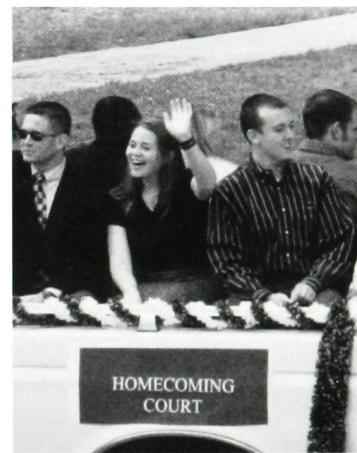

Honor Society Alpha Phi Omega participates in the parade.

Dr. Wray chats with rising star, Nick Woodward.

Nominees for Homecoming Court pile in for a place in the parade.

Dr. Martinson breaks ground for the new Fine Arts building.

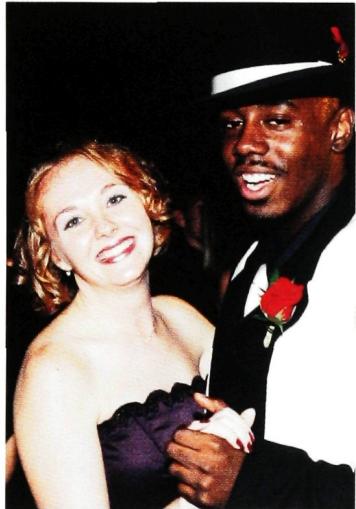

School spirit is contagious as the evening draws near.

"My Kind of Town" invites partygoers to enjoy an evening of celebration.

HOMECOMING

Over 1,000 students, alumni, faculty, and staff participated in homecoming festivities at the Benton Convention Center. Indeed, it was a night to remember. A grand ballroom held a band and DJ, a free novelty room treated guests, and everyone partook of coffee and dessert in the atrium before boarding the buses back to campus.

Jenny May and Larikus Scott enjoy being members of the Homecoming Court.

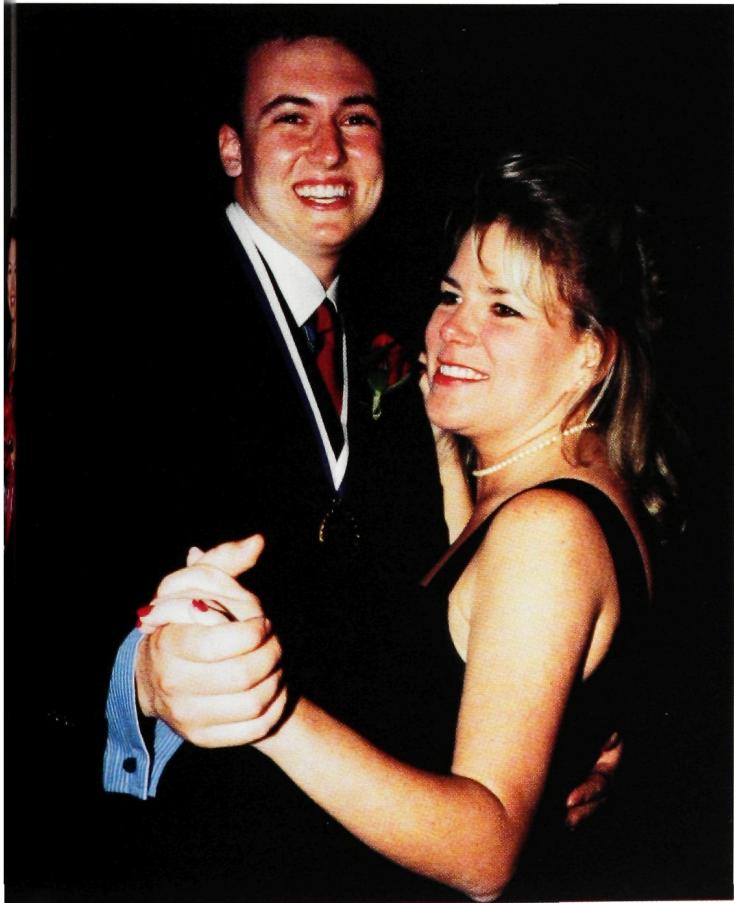

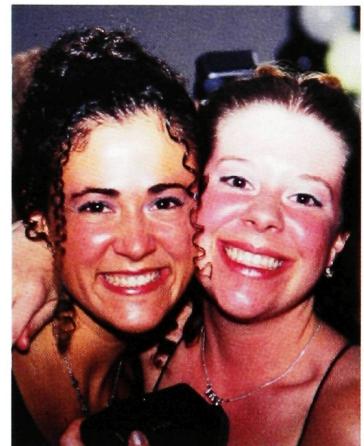

The Homecoming Court gathers for a celebratory photograph with King and Queen before taking the dance floor.

Dressing up is half the fun of the evening.

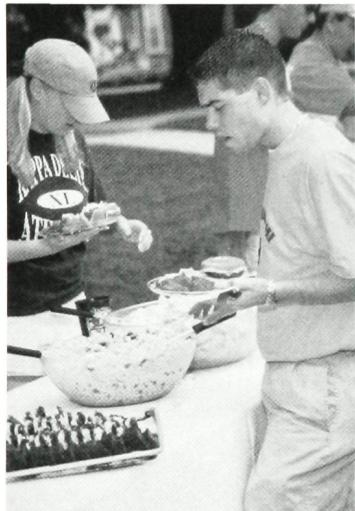

Big Man on Campus Tim Hassett is happy after being announced the winner.

President Martinson dances with Homecoming Queen Nikita Jones.

Playing and competing all in the name of fun.

DERBY DAY

Saturday, August 28, 2000, was the day for students to meet on the Greensward for Derby Day. Events included the mattress race, hippity hop, three-legged race, dizzy bats, tug of war, and water balloon toss. Teams from organizations and residence halls came out to participate for a day of food, fun, and excitement.

All that hard work gives students a healthy appetite.

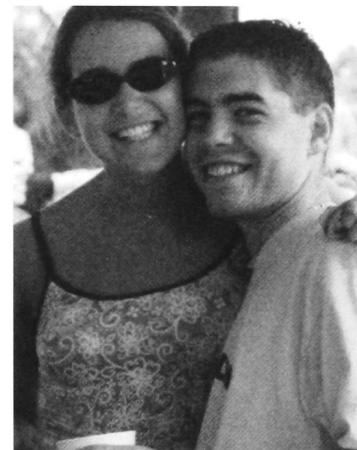

The man with the mike - Tank Floyd - keeps everything in line on Derby Day.

Hippity hoppers round the curve and head for the finish line.

Becca Marcus and George Taylor take a break in each other's company.

The cheerleaders showcase their talent with a quick exhibition.

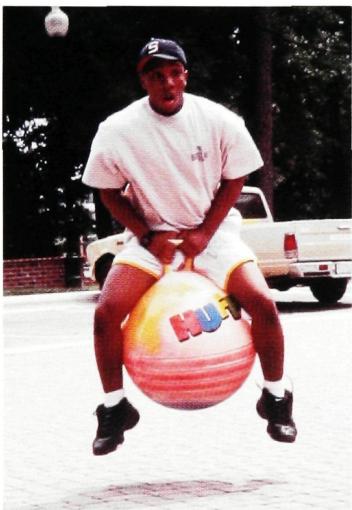

Team North feels inspired to do their own thing on Derby Day.

And the fun goes on....

DERBY DAY

Is it better to give than to receive? Depends on which end of the balloon toss you find yourself.

One way to win the hippity hop is to go airborne!

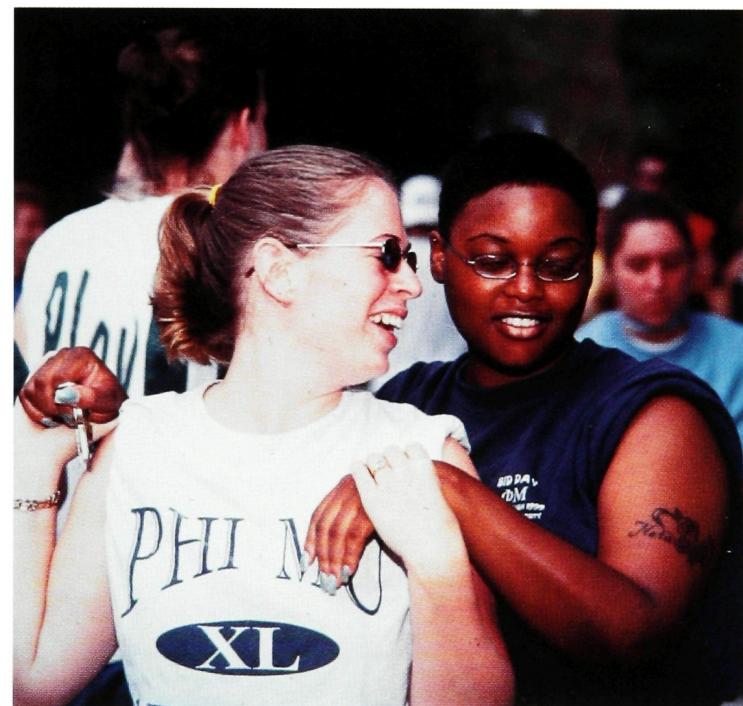

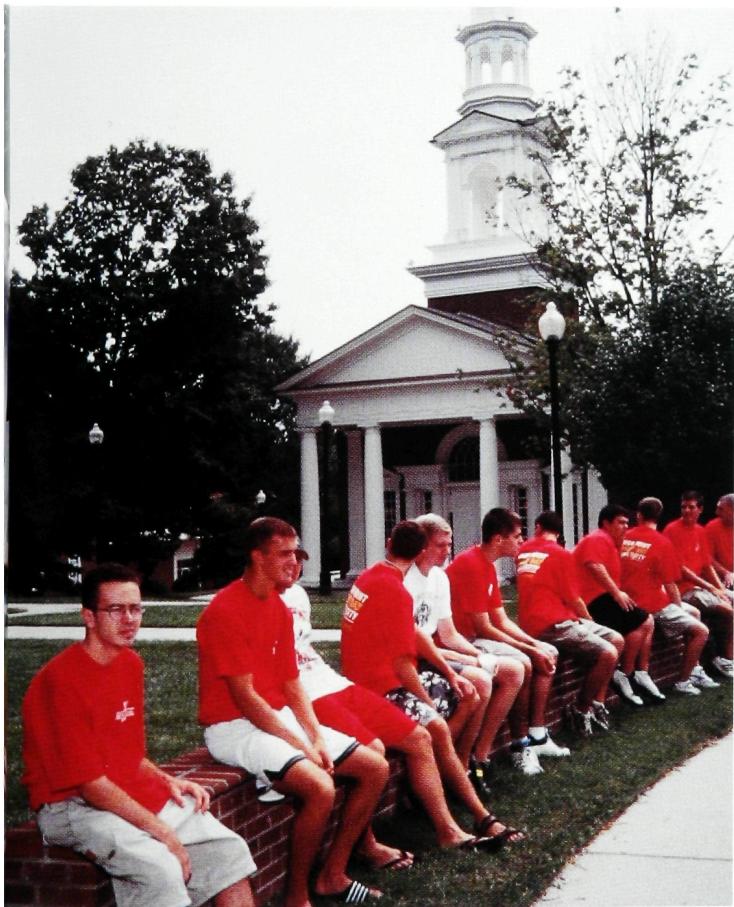

Darius Mooring and Joe McGowen have fun while participating in the mattress race.

Yadkin Hall residents struggle to win the tug of war.

A calm, even start is essential to a successful dizzy bat turn.

Teams take a break to prepare for the next competition.

Phi Mu sisters work together to take Derby Day honors.

Pulling together, the Orientation Committee makes a hectic day run smoothly.

ORIENTATION

Hours of practice and planning paid off as new students were quickly settled into their rooms by competent committee members. After attending general sessions, students were treated to several fun activities to welcome them to the University and to help them make new friends. Another year is successfully underway.

Team members don't waste a trip; it's necessary to have both hands full on Move-In Day.

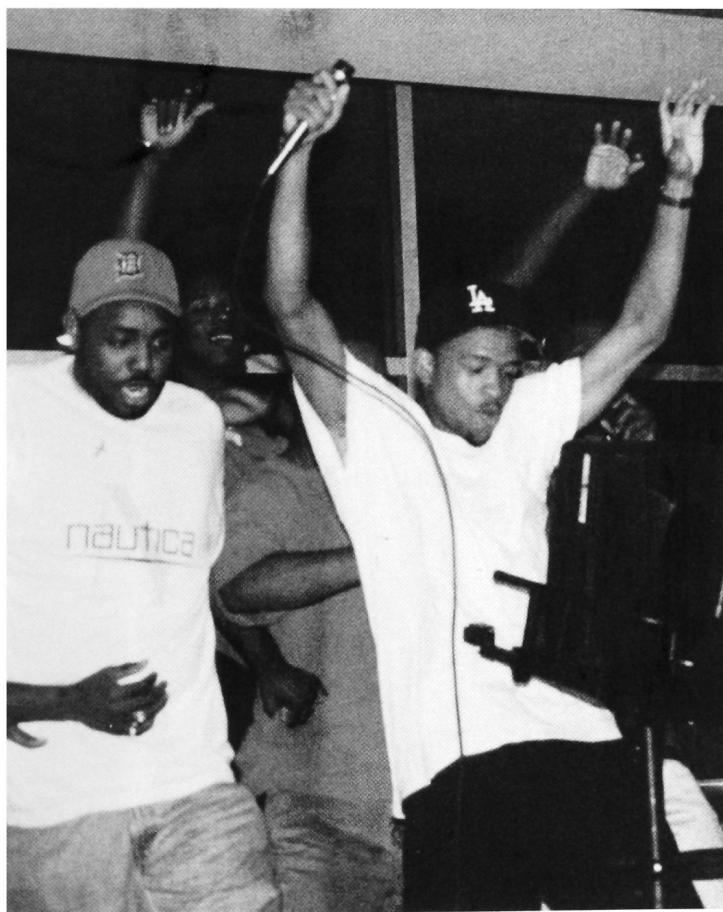

Friendly faces welcome and direct new students to unloading areas.

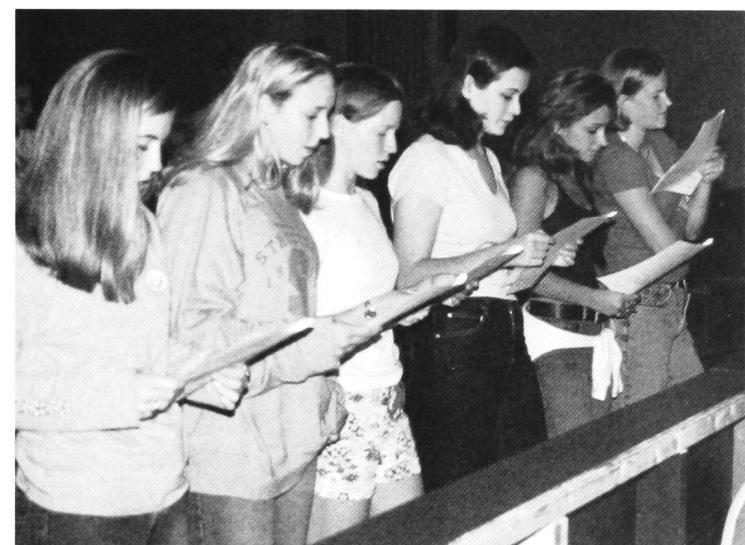

Lines were long but patient at the check-in tables.

At the Luau, Mindy Wanzie wins the limbo contest for the 3rd year in a row.

Karaoke brings old and new friends together.

Students take the Honor Pledge at a General Session.

ORIENTATION

Tim Hassett uses the Gator and a walkie-talkie to troubleshoot during Move-In Day.

A good workout is guaranteed on Move-In Day as Kenji Dorsey works to unload a year's worth of possessions one load at a time.

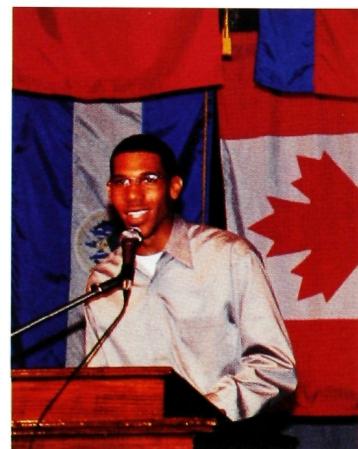

Lori Sessoms, Chair of the Entertainment Committee, brings out tiki torches to light up the Luau.

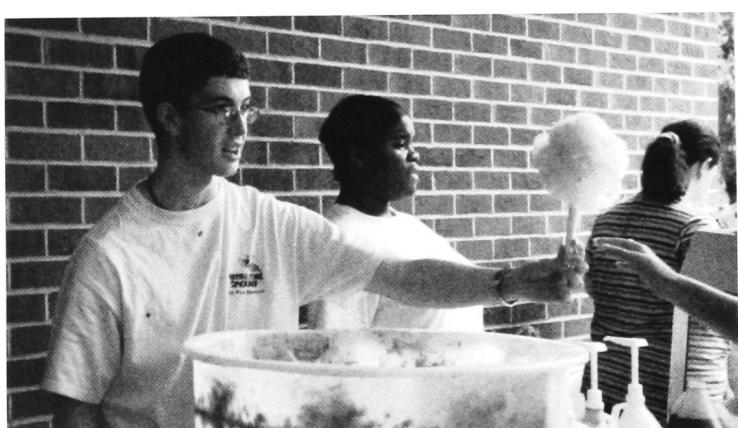

The Luau helps Martina, Tawanna, Cyamon, and Sheena get loosened up and ready to get to work (and play) as the school year starts.

General sessions were led by students.

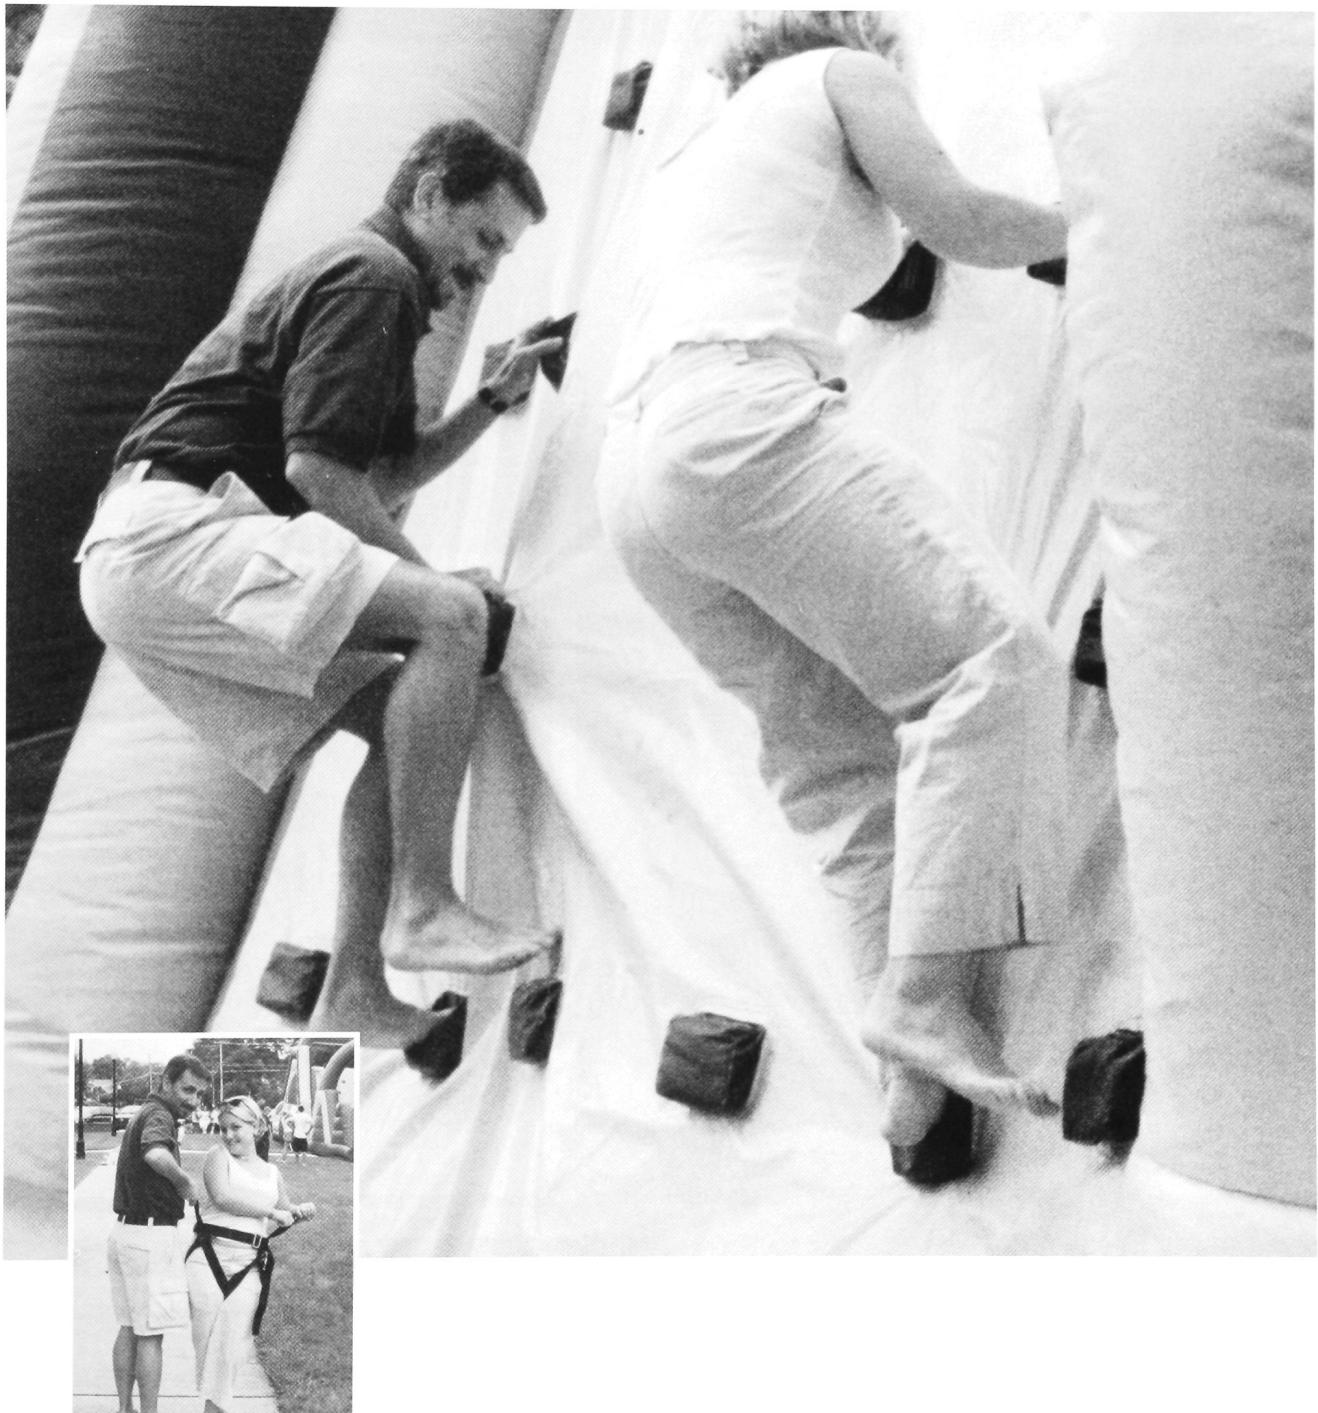

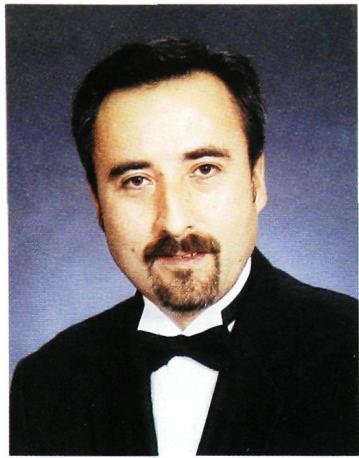

The Orientation Committee hands out information packets to new students.

The Lawn Party gives students a chance to compete in fun and games before settling down to business.

High Point University Men's Soccer had one of its most productive seasons in recent years under the direction of third year Head Coach Peter Bradley. While finishing with an overall record of 9-10-1 (3-4 in the Big South) despite the loss of five starters due to injury, the Panthers fought their way to the semi-finals of the Big South Tournament, only to lose 2-1 in double-overtime to eventual conference champion Radford University. Earning honors for the 2000 men's team were Damon Ming, John Sitaridis and Ben Mork who were all selected to the All-Conference Second Team while Eric Lona was selected to the Big South Conference's All Academic Team.

Sports Medicine

The personnel involved in the sports medicine program have worked hard all year to keep High Point's athletes healthy and in top physical shape. Like High Point's athletics, the sports medicine program continues to grow by introducing more and more students to the field of athletic training. The many hours that sports medicine majors spend in the classroom and on the field have enabled them to learn about the prevention, evaluation, and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. The sports medicine staff will continue to ensure our athlete's safety so they can compete to their maximum level.

Men's Basketball

Head Coach Jerry Steele's 2000-01 High Point University Men's Basketball squad returned seven letter-winners from the 1999-2000 campaign where the team finished in sixth place out of the eight team Big South Conference. A brand new assistant coach in Brett Reed joined the squad, as well as junior transfers Doug Alves, Jermaine Wallace, and Craig Clark. Freshmen Brent Halsch and Dan Kalbaugh gave the Panthers depth on the bench. Coach Steele came into the season with 595 career wins and easily attained his 600th collegiate coaching victory early in the season.

Women's Basketball

With seven returnees and a stellar recruiting class, Head Coach Dr. Joe Ellenburg and his Panthers looked to avenge their injury plagued 1999-2000 season when they finished with a record of 6-22 overall and a 3-11 in the Big South Conference. The addition of redshirt guard Narelle Henry along with six other freshmen recruits including Debbie Ruiz, Nicki Fauntleroy, Gemma Keogh, Shannon O'Brien, Chanel Thomas, and Amber Chastain made HPU better. Guard Misty Brockman made her much anticipated return after sitting out all of last season with a knee injury. Coach Ellenburg reached his milestone 200th career coaching victory as he entered this season with an overall victory total of 194.

Men's and Women's Track & Field

Thirty-nine year Head Coach Bob Davidson has decided to retire after the 2001 spring season. He looks to lead his men's and women's track & field teams around that final turn one last time. Men's seniors Larikus Scott, Carlton Sanders, and Travis Harvey hope to make that dream a reality. Distance runners Tommy Evans, Dan Gariepy, and Taylor Milne should finish well for HPU as should field veteran Ed Bunnell. On the women's side seniors Roxie Stennett and Porsche Jackson look to sprint their way to the finish for Coach Davidson. Distance specialist Cricket Indra could solidify a top spot in the Big South as a freshman as could new thrower Nicole Garner.

Baseball

The 2001 Panthers will be led by 23rd year Head Coach Jim Speight for the final time this spring, as he announced his retirement from the program earlier in the school year. Speight looks to climb the ladder a little further with this year's squad as a semifinal loss in last year's Big South Conference Tournament showed the Panthers that they could compete in one of the top tier Division I baseball conferences in the country. Senior Jason Brennan along with sophomore Kevin Burch will anchor the pitching staff for HPU. Senior transfer Kirk Harris, along with returnees John Cavanaugh, Chris Vinar and Michael Lowman will look to swing the bats and lead the Panther offense.

Women's Tennis

Women's Tennis is again under the direction of 7th year Head Coach Jerry Tertzagian. The Panther ladies are looking to continue the success of years past, in particular their first official season of Division I competition in the Big South Conference, where they finished as the #3 seed for the tournament, while making it all the way to the semifinal matches. Veteran senior Mirva Maenpaa and Megan Hofmann as well as sophomore Elisabet Ericson look to lead a core of young freshmen into the next era of High Point University Women's Tennis.

Men's Tennis

Eighth-year Head Coach Jerry Tertzagian comes into the 2001 men's tennis season with very high expectations. Due to the signing of two big recruits - Bjorn Hagdahl and Johan Dorfh - the men's team is looking to go nowhere but up. Six veterans return for the #5 seed in the Big South Conference tournament a year ago, including seniors Peter Mellstrom and Erik Pettersson. Junior Jacob Widange, the team's #1 seeded player, will look to have a huge season.

Golf

Men's Golf begins a new era at High Point University as brand new Head Coach JB White steps in to take over the program. Coach White, a former golf pro at three different country clubs is hoping to make an impact with his recruiting class right away. Senior Mike Rasmussen will aid Coach White, providing leadership for the young squad. Veterans Andrew Smith, Ross Miller, and Gordon Hughes should also help the newcomers with their transition to the college game.

Many thanks to everyone who supported High Point University athletic teams by attending and working at games and events. The yearbook staff would also like to extend a heartfelt thank you to Joe Cristy for providing photographs and copy for the sports section.
